From Home-Girl to Gold-Digger

WHAT Fluffy Angel Cakes She Used to Bake! What Lovely Embroidery Once Rested on the Knee that Vibrates Now to Soniferous Music! How Coyly She Blushed by the Fireside!

Yet now She insists on Downtown Dinners, Musical Comedies and Roof Gardens. A Case-Hardened Gold-Digger!

Judge Not too Harshly. Who will Blame Her for succumbing to the Temptation of Appearing in Public with Her Sweetheart in his new Long, Loose, Straight-hanging Overcoat?

UNIVERSITY MEN'S DEPARTMENT

THE LENGTH—THE DRAPE THE SHOULDERS

These are the Points to Consider in Choosing Your Overcoat

Longer Overcoats for University Men. Straight-hanging Overcoats. Broad Shoulders suggestive of Gym Work. Long, wide, rolling Lapels. These are the wanted characteristics, whether you prefer Single- or Double-breasted Models.

AND AS FOR FABRICS

The 1924-25 Perry Overcoats are a Revelation in Colors

Entirely new Shades this year—never before shown. Bluish Grays, Light Blue Plaids on Gray, Oxford Blues, Pearl Grays, Olive Mixtures, Tannish Grays, Granite Mixtures, new Glen Uquhardt Plaids and other patterns and shades that even an English Professor could scarcely do full justice.

DISTINCT CHANGES IN CORRECT SUITS FOR YOUNGER MEN

Of course, every University Man Wears Wide Trousers Suits, but now come new Points of Difference. The Coats are tighter over the hips with a distinct shaping at the waist and with broad shoulders—a style combination denoting the Classical Figure. Many new Fabric Shades such as Beige, Tiger Tan, Rust Brown, Claro Gray and Claro Blue.

WHEN YOU DINE WITH THE DEAN

Let Your Tuxedo Coat and Trousers be Correct beyond Criticism (also when you dine with the Girl)

Perry Tuxedos follow the lines of the newer Sack Suits. Tight at the Hips. Broad Shoulders. Longer Lapels (with a Dull Silk Facing instead of ordinary Satin). Pockets placed lower. Trousers wide, of course.

OVERCOATS—OVERCOATS

Thousands of Overcoats

Single-breasted and Double-breasted Box-back Models. Extra-long Overcoats. Conservative Overcoats. Guard Models. Ulsters of Every Variety. But we offer this as an Excellent Choice for University Men—

Plain-back Coat. High Set and Broad Shoulders. Fly-fronts, and

Good news for all lovers of graphic pie

Graphic pie enough to satisfy the hunger of a life-time; no end of graphic mountains to scale and toboggan down. That's what the man who loves to analyze graphs and statistical symbols can look forward to when he comes with the electrical industry.

Economic study is one of many branches in this broad field. If you have thought of electricity as limited to engineers, this other side of the picture will interest you.

The commercial organization with its problems of distributing, selling, advertising; the manufacturing end with its opportunity for trained technical men; the legal and accounting branches—all this and more totals electrical industry.

It may pay you to keep this in mind against graduation.

Artificial lightning was first publicly demonstrated on June 5, 1923, in the laboratory of the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, Mass., when a two-million-volt spark crashed into this miniature village

What's the use of artificial lightning?

Experiments like these are particularly thrilling and important to young men and women, who will live in an age when electricity will perform most of life's hardest tasks. Know what the research laboratories of the General Electric Company are doing; they are a telescope through which you can see the future!

If you are interested to learn more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

It is mainly experimental, aiding General Electric scientists to solve high power transmission problems. Many such experiments yield no immediate return.

But in the long run this work is practical and important. It is part of the study which must go on unceasingly if this powerful force, Electricity, is to be fully tamed and enlisted in your service.

BURRO Hopes That You Enjoy
The Best Of Yuletide Spirits

- H. P. COITMAN -

QUITE NATURAL

Jack: So you held your convention in Canada? Did they hold you up when you crossed the border?

Bill: Hold me up! Hell, they carried me.

"That's a hell of a note," said the driver as the mule brayed.

Burro's Smutty Christmas Story

As long as the editor has told the board of this comic that the Dean never reads the book, the author feels fairly confident that he may repeat this story without being "thrown out of college." Even at that we want it clearly understood that this never appeared in the BURR; not by any means; it was published by that magazine, the Amherst LORD JEFF, and as it was printed on their first page, we think that we can get away with putting it in the BURR.

The whole point of the story lies in the subtle intimations about those indescribable (let us call them X's), those crude harsh sounding ill meaning X's which one is not supposed to think about, much less mention in polite society. But boys will be boys, so here goes:

A goose is standing, with lowered head, and stretched neck facing a little dog with a bandaged tail; the dog is returning the questioning look of the goose. The look on the dog's face is one to imply the fact that the dog's tail has just been bitten by the goose. The whole situation is tense with

SAME OLD LAMB AGAIN

Mary had a little lamb,
Where 'er she went it hied,
Mary went to a Lehigh dance,
From thirst, the damned lamb died.

SOME FROSH ARE SO DUMB
THEY THINK SANTA CLAUS
GETS HIS STUFF READY
IN PACKER HALL

A skinny old maiden named Bunn,
Married a one-legged son of a gun.
She said "I don't care
If he isn't all there.
Lord knows, he's better than none."

She wasn't much of a chicken but she was a hell of a good egg.

She: Don't you think Mable's dress is a joke?
He: Not at all, I can see right through it.

Soph: Say, whats the idea of laughing at the man with a broken nose?

Frosh: I can't help it. His bridge is gone and I just can't get over it.

SANTA CLAUS

MARY CHRISTMAS SAYS:

*This Mistletoe is quite "the stuff,"
Indeed it is a treat,
But much more to the point to me
Is—When and where we eat!*

NAUGHTY NAUGHTY

He: Why do they call those things on your stockings, clocks, they don't have hands on them?

She: And they aren't going to have any on them!

WOULDJABELIEVEIT?

The sidewalks all behave quite queer,
The Christmas trees are sprouting
beer,
Green fish are flying thru the sky,
My roommate's drunk, but not so I.

HE MAY NOT APPEAR TO BE VERY BRIGHT, BUT ANYONE CAN TELL HE'S A
ROADS SCHOLAR

SHE WAS THE WRONG KIND OF A GIRL

He (after seeing all her Christmas presents): Well I guess your stocking is nicely filled.

She: Leave the house!

EXTRACT FROM A FROSH
LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa Claus please bring to me,
An oaken paddle fine,
So when next year rolls around,
I'll get mine at '29.

She was only a farmer's daughter but she knew her oats.

MILD BUT SUGGESTIVE

The more than usual lack of intelligence that morning had got under the professor's skin.

"Class is dismissed," he said, "Please do not flap your ears as you go out."

Doctor: If you want to be completely cured, follow my advice and drink hot water an hour before breakfast every morning.

Patient: I tried to, but I couldn't keep it up for more than ten minutes.

Late hours are not good for one.
No, but they are nice for two.

"I can only find one sock!"
"That's odd."

She: How high is heaven?
He: About three beers and a gin.

LOVE KNOWS NO LIMITS

It was a cozy little dance. We glided into one of those secluded corners and hesitated. Her glance followed mine as I looked up at the sprig of mistletoe and she waited demurely. I looked down at her tenderly and tightened my hold a trifle. She raised her head expectantly and helplessly as I bent over and whispered feelingly: "Grace, I know I shouldn't but I can't help telling you—your dress is unhooked."

Jones (in restaurant): "Hey waiter, where's my honey?"

Waiter: "Sorry sir, but she doesn't work here any more."

Prof. in English—Give an example of a collective noun.

'28—Hash.

JO MOPE SAYS:

When automobiles came in, roller skates went out, but it was a wise girl who kept her skates.

MY GIRL'S PICTURE

*I looked down upon you
And wondered if bliss,
Could ever be any more
Perfect than this
To wander forever
Through sweet Paradise,
To bathe in the warmth
Of those deep mystic eyes,
To have you and hold you
Till death do us part,
To love you and keep you
Right close to my heart,
Your beautiful face
Ever smiling at me,
Your laugh like a silver bell
Ringing in glee;
Oh! How I wish
I might have you tonight,
But you're out with another
And probably tight! ! !*

VOL. XXXV.

DECEMBER 1924

NUMBER THREE

Published monthly by the students of Lehigh University. Subscription, two dollars and a half. Address all communications to the Editor, Bethlehem, Pa. All business communications to A. G. Blake, Chi Psi House, University Campus. All circulation communications, especially changes of address, to J. J. Unkles, Phi Delta Theta House, University Campus. Entered at the Bethlehem, Pa., Post Office as second-class matter.

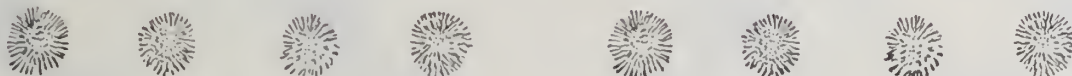

CHRISTMAS IS HERE and as no magazine at this season of the year is complete without a few suggestions as to presents, BURRO would like to merely mention a few things which might possibly have an appeal.

It might occur to the Dean, for instance, to give the hard working students a few more days of holiday; the editor's German teacher might raise his mark, just out of sheer goodness of heart; Dr. Bull might think of the season of the year and temporarily reduce the usual number of "c. c." pills from three to a limit of safety, of, say two; the President of our fair Alma Mater might think of the fun that other men of his age had when they were young and let us have something in the way of a house party; our graduate manager might possibly, in a spirit of bravado, give the basketball team another cake of soap, or something—anything—just to show them that Christmas is celebrated in Scotland!

Oh, there are myriads of thoughtful little presents which bring joy to the heart, but alas! no one ever thinks of them, and BURRO can but suggest—so he wishes you all—the merriest of Christmases and a New Year just full of “wine, women, and song”—just lots and lots of song.

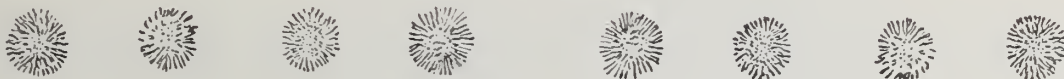

BURRO HAS, UNTIL RECENT DATE, been very undecided as to its policy on cross word puzzles, but since reading the editorial of the most estimable periodical, THE BROWN AND WHITE, in which the aforesaid puzzles were “raked over the coals,” the old Jackass definitely decided that these brain teasers are exceptionally good things. There is one in this issue; we hope that the staff of the Brown and White enjoy trying to work it; we feel that the rest of the college can.

BURRO wishes to thank the contributors for the way they “came through” in this issue. Many of those who were hiding their lights under the proverbial bushels, have removed the same, and the contest of wits begins to assume the looks of a real competition. Remember, that anyone who has work accepted for three consecutive issues, and whose work is up to the standard of the BURR, will be taken on the staff.

Keep in mind the Arabian Nights Number, and have all art work in before the Christmas Holidays, and the editorial work immediately after the Holidays, at the latest. The editor wishes you luck!

THE BROKEN RESOLUTION

It was almost 10 o'clock—a couple were in the living room before the open fire place—the girl seemed to be begging him—entreating him with all her heart. He remained unmoved. She sat down on the chaise lounge finally—she pulled him down beside her.

Please, Jerry, no one will know but ourselves—you know I'd never tell anyone—I know you hate to but won't you just to please me? If I don't object, why should you—please just once. As if weakened by entreating she started to sob and leaned on his shoulder.

He could not bear to see her thus—of course he did not want to—his very nature repelled the thought—he couldn't stand her sobbing—he knew he was weakening—finally he abandoned himself entirely—I just can't resist, dear—his voice was hoarse—Promise me to keep it a secret and not despise me?

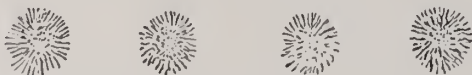

Of course I'll do as you wish, dear—she spoke feebly but with an ecstasy in her voice.

Then——he could hardly force himself to talk—slowly and with the utmost effort—the word of six letters starting with S and meaning foolish is 'simple.' And so the puzzle was solved.

Young boy: Where'd you get all the money?

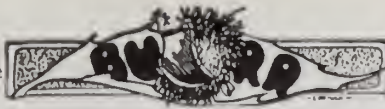

2nd Ditto: One night I caught my sister's beau holding her hand so he gave me a dime; next night I caught him kissing her so he gave me fifteen cents; and last night he gave me a dollar.

He: Are you familiar with Keats.
She: Sir, I am not familiar with anyone.

He: I would like to see a first-class second-hand car.

Salesman: So would I brother.

Jack: To see if my brake arm is all right.

She: Oh, Jack, I don't mind sitting on the other side.

Vanity Fair's Assembled Wardrobe

The New Fashion for the Double-Breasted Dinner Jacket and Its Correct Accessories

There is much speculation as to whether or not the double-breasted dinner jacket will be very popular with the well dressed man. However, considering its merits, there is much to be said about it. It is even a more informal type of evening dress than the single-breasted dinner jacket, because it shows less white shirt front, practically no waistcoat, and as it may even be worn without a waistcoat, it makes an excellent evening jacket for summer wear. It is certain that it does not look, because of these facts, at all like the traditional type of evening clothes, and at first glance to the casual observer, a man, with the exception of the wing collar and black bow tie, might be wearing any dark double-breasted suit instead of a dinner jacket. With this cut of jacket, a pleated, semi-stiff shirt is in good form, whereas with a single-breasted jacket it is now decidedly not the smart shirt to wear. With it, the wing collar and black bow tie should be worn just as in the case of the more familiar jacket. The lapels should be faced with dull silk and not satin, and the black soft felt hat for evening wear is more in keeping than the top hat or the bowler. The kummerband is a very neat accessory with this jacket to take the place of either the white or black evening waistcoat, which, with double-breasted dinner jacket, is never seen. In ordering this jacket, insist that there be four buttons on the sleeve. This minor alteration is easily made and makes a great difference in the style of the coat. There should be no flaps to the side pockets.

The Return of the Opera Hat for the Well Dressed Man

For some time past the well dressed man has worn his top hat (a silk hat) for evening wear instead of the old-fashioned crush or opera hat. In London and Paris, the top hat is always worn with a dinner coat as well as with a dress suit, but of late the opera hat has come back into fashion among such men who are wearing dinner jackets more than they used to for semi-formal occasions. There is much to be said in favor of the opera hat. It is the most convenient hat for theatre wear and takes up less room in the lap or under the seat than any other hat made. Its dull surface is more suited to wear with a dinner jacket than the glossy surface of the top hat, but, except for theatre wear, the immaculate looking, very dressy top hat still has first place for the most formal occasions when dress clothes are worn. In the season in New York, dress clothes are much worn and are certainly in better taste than a dinner jacket for mid-winter wear on almost all occasions, but as Vanity Fair has often remarked, a man displays bad taste when overdressed just as he does when under-dressed, and if dinner jackets are to be the order of the evening, then dinner jackets should be worn for whatever the occasion may be.
